

Vertical Slider Windows

with the Network VEKA difference...

A Vertical Sliding Sash in PVC-U offers the timeless look and feel of a traditional timber sash window, combined with a range of modern benefits.

These innovative window systems can be tilted inwards for ventilation and easy cleaning, as well as sliding up and down in the conventional fashion.

A vertical sliding sash fitted by your local Network VEKA member offers a number of benefits.

Traditional horned sash

These windows are virtually indistinguishable from classic timber sash windows, but - thanks to the durability and low-maintenance properties of PVC-U - they will never rot, swell or warp and you won't need to worry about repainting them!

With such an authentic style, these windows are ideal for heritage properties and conservation areas. They even have 'horns' to mirror the style of their traditional timber counterparts.

These classically-styled PVC-U window systems don't just look beautiful, they perform beautifully too. You should enjoy years of trouble-free operation with no further maintenance than an occasional wipe with soapy water and a drop of oil on the working mechanisms.

Deceptively, these traditional-style windows provide a host of modern benefits. They are even available with an 'A' rating for energy efficiency!

Unlike old fashioned sash windows, these windows will resist condensation forming between the panes and are extremely draught-proof and weather-proof. High quality Vertical Sliding Sash Windows can even reduce outdoor noise - making your home a quiet haven of calm.

As with all VEKA products installed by a highly-trained Network VEKA member, these systems offer all the quality performance and insurance-backed guarantees you have come to expect.
